Platform to Analyze, Record, & Track Networks to Enhance Relationships

Our signature platform of tools, training and resources makes it easy to collect, explore, and make sense of network data, empowering you to develop actionable strategies for your organization, and ultimately improve the outcomes of your work.

How do you measure the value of collaboration?

In today's world, influencing better health and well-being requires us to work together, but effectively doing that is challenging, and it can bring up important questions:

▶ What are the best ways to form partnerships across governmental, nonprofit, and private sectors?

▶ How can we address cross-disciplinary goals and maximize resource sharing for all stakeholders?

▶ What is the best way to integrate the complex social support structures of the people we serve?

Questions like these are difficult to answer—the networks of relationships and influences that affect the outcomes of your work are complex, and most of the time they're not even visible. As network scientists we saw an opportunity to change that.

At Visible Network Labs, we've channeled decades of research and network science expertise into PARTNER's tools, training and resources to enable you to clearly see all the intricate connections that affect your work, understand why those connections matter, and leverage that understanding to move your organization forward.
